

Phuong N. Pham Of Counsel

Phuong Pham works on domestic and international communications matters, including licensing and regulatory compliance, transactions, and litigation involving antenna and wireless carriers, broadcast stations, satellite service providers, providers of new technology services, and equipment manufacturers. He advises clients before both the FCC and the California Public Utilities Commission on all aspects of federal and state communications law. Mr. Pham's practice also includes negotiating network service agreements, inter-carrier contracts, and other telecommunications-related contracts, and litigating issues such as interconnection, rate regulation, telephone billing practices, and broadcast advertising.
